

Announcement

Babes-Bolyai University supports and encourages the continuation of its staff's international research and training activities. Therefore, we abolished the restrictions regarding travelling abroad when the public health conditions allowed us to do it. Our academic community has always cherished the educational values and their advantages, even at times when there are risks involved.

We are living through times when travelling abroad might involve increased health issues, pecuniary prejudices or time related dissatisfaction, of which each of us must be aware and ready to face them. Babes-Bolyai University offers as much support as possible to those who wish to continue their academic activity physically.

To this end, we are kindly asking everyone requesting the Rector's Order for international mobilities, to submit a handwritten affidavit, stating that they know and consciously undertake all the risks and the supplementary financial costs that might emerge as a result of their decision to travel abroad.

The team of the Center for International Cooperation will remain at your disposal for further clarifications linked to the issuance of the Rectors Order.

Thank you and may you have a great success in all of your projects.
