HISTORICAL OVERVIEW

Founded in 1581, Babeș-Bolyai University (BBU) is the oldest university in Romania, with a long history of education, research, and serving the local community. Currently, BBU is the largest university in the country enrolling more than 46,000 undergraduate, graduate and doctoral students in 514 degree programmes in Romanian, Hungarian, German, English, French, Italian and Finnish. The university has been evaluated and ranked among the top three universities in Romania for the quality of its programmes.

Reflecting the history of the region BBU has become a model of multiculturalism, with three lines of study (Romanian, Hungarian, German), offering complete degree programmes in five languages (Romanian, Hungarian, German, English, French, Italian and Finnish). BBU combines a traditional model with an innovative structure, being from a confessional point of view the only university in the world to have four Christian theological faculties (Orthodox, Roman-Catholic, Greek-Catholic and Reformed), also adding Judaic studies.

BBU is the flagship of the Romanian higher education system, establishing national standards in teaching, research, and community outreach.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

BBU understands its relationship to society as a way of both contributing to the technical, economic, scientific, social, and cultural development of the surrounding communities and of identifying new challenges and opportunities for the institution, especially regarding the adaptation of its education programmes to respond to new social needs. The university acknowledges its commitment to use its teaching, learning, research, and community engagement capabilities to make a significant contribution to the social and economic development of the region and the country.

The commitment to promote science and to open the scientific community to all members of the community is reflected in the number and diversity of open lectures, public conferences and forums, as well as science events organized by faculties and departments and open to a general audience. Continuing education and lifelong learning are a central preoccupation for several departments of our university.

BBU encourages and facilitates the involvement of students in volunteering activities dedicated to the community.

Enhancing local impact and social engagement

GO INTERNATIONAL

Why choose BBU?

Cluj is regarded as the most important student city in the country. With a population consisting of 25% students (student/resident ratio 1:4) Cluj is a young and dynamic city. Among the six public universities and several private higher education institutions in Cluj, BBU is by far the largest and most comprehensive university, both locally and nationally. A considerable amount of our educational process is conducted in foreign languages and constantly attracts students worldwide, giving a cosmopolitan feel to both the University and the city.

Besides the pleasant and friendly academic environment, our university has an excellent research record and works closely with regional businesses to provide career development opportunities. We pride ourselves on being a completely transparent and open organisation.
